SUMMER READING PARTY

Saturday August 24

11:00-1:00

Celebrate another summer of reading great books! Readers and their families are invited to join us for music, games, food, and more! Please register.

Be sure and check out our new online calendar and program registration software. It goes live 9/1 and we hope it's even simpler and easier to use than our last upgrade!

PROGRAMS COMING THIS FALL!

Drawing for Beginners 7/29 10:15-11:45 Tuesdays starting 9/10 | 1:00-3:00 Melissa Tai's warm and welcoming environment will invite students who "can't even draw stick people" and intermediate artists alike to try new techniques and look with new eyes. Most art projects start with a drawing, so we will learn about this important practice. We will explore a variety of tools and techniques to allow each artist to find a form of mark making that they enjoy. This 11-week class is $120.

Fall Frick Lecture Series 9/20, 10/25 & 12/6 | various times Join us for a splendid lecture series with The Frick. In September, learn more about The American Garden and its connection to the American Dream. In October, discover more about Domestics in the Gilded Age (ala Upstairs Downstairs and Downton Abbey). And finally, the series will culminate in a festive holiday tea with a light lunch and presentation on Victorian Holiday Traditions. Attend all 3 for a reduced price of $35 or just 1 for $15. Registration required. More information online.

Dispatches of D-Day Sunday 10/20 | 2:00-4:00 Join author, Jared Frederick for a glimpse into D-Day. Spring 1944. The world held its breath as hundreds of thousands of Allied combatants leapt across the English Channel in the largest amphibious operation of the Second World War. The epic of the Normandy invasion, legendary in myth and astounding in scope, comes to life as Jared resurrects long-forgotten tales of individual struggle, sacrifice, and community. Unearthing hundreds of accounts from period newspapers, he revives the lost voices of the momentous struggle to liberate Western Europe from Nazi tyranny.

Mason Jar Salads 11/7 | 6:30-8:00 Looking for easy meal prep hacks to get you through the busy weeks leading up to the holidays? Join us for super easy, practical and delicious way to up your meal prep game: Mason Jar Salads! Registration includes informational & hands-on workshop, where everyone goes home with a quart size jar salad you can eat for lunch the next day! $6 per person for supplies.
